Cary: High House Road, Wide Outside Lanes

High House Road in Cary includes a number of good highway design features: wide outside lanes that permit bicyclists to more safely share the same lane with overtaking motor vehicles; a center median that divides the roadway; and a grassed planting strip that separates the sidewalk from the roadway. This is a good example of incidental bicycle and pedestrian accommodations being constructed as part of a TIP roadway-widening project.

Fourteen-foot curb lanes permit bicyclists and motorists to safely share the road
